Washington Leadership Academy (WLA) is a public charter high school dedicated to providing students from disenfranchised Washington, D.C. communities with high-quality educational experiences. From four years of cutting-edge computer science instruction to professional internships to international travel, WLA students will be prepared not only for success in college but also for lives of public leadership. WLA is also a research and development laboratory school for innovative education interventions, such as trauma-informed restorative justice systems and student-led town hall meetings on current issues.
